Cody graduated High School from Stover, MO., in the summer of 2012, joined the army for a short period of time in 2014, was a student in the college of Culinary Arts in Saint Louis, worked as a ranch hand when he lived with his dad, and attended truck driving school in Iowa. He tried many things while trying to find his niche. He enjoyed fishing, hunting, joy riding in pretty much anything that had a motor, and music. He hated clowns, but the irony of that was, he was always trying to make people laugh and be happy. Cody was a little shit disturber that, in the words of his dad, “could tear up a crowbar with a rubber mallet”, but he loved his family. He never wanted to leave his family for too long. He was a mama’s boy who would always say, “You know I don’t play when it comes to my mama.” Cody was a loving and caring adventurer, who travelled all over the country side with family members and various friends. He will be fondly remembered and dearly missed by all who knew and loved him.
