Funeral Services will be private. In lieu of flowers, the family would appreciate donations to Longmeadow Farm for Horse Rehabilitation through the Humane Society of Missouri, 1201 Macklind Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri 63110, <http://www.hsmo.org>.

Gracious, beautiful, with an insatiable intellectual curiosity. Sue read and traveled extensively. Sue was a longtime member of the Bridlespur Hunt Club and rodeo as often as she possibly could. Also a dedicated member of the Pioneer Book Club, she was an avid skier and hiker. Sue was adored by her family and will never be forgotten.

Sue's father, L.T. Col. Clymer ("Duke") Jeffries, died in action in France before he had the chance to meet his daughter. She was raised by her mother, Sue, and her maternal grandparents, Sue and Clay Stephenson, in Kansas City, Missouri and at their farm in Lone Jack, Missouri. There Sue developed a lifetime love of horses and farming.

Sue attended Northwestern University before transferring to University of California at Berkeley. She met her husband, Jay, on her first day of medical school at the University of Missouri Columbia. After graduating from medical school, Sue completed her training in pulmonary medicine at Vanderbilt University before joining the faculty at Saint Louis University. There she taught pulmonary and critical care medicine until she retired in 2004.

In 2012, Sue and Jay retired to live full time at their family farm in Grubville, Missouri
