

Andrew "Andy" Scott Zangaro

January 24, 1987 - May 25, 2020

Andrew "Andy" Scott Zangaro, of High Ridge, Missouri was born January 24, 1987, in Saint Louis, Missouri, to Martin Zangaro, Sr. and Jacqueline (nee Parton) Messmer and entered into rest, Monday, May 25, 2020 at the age of 33 years.

He is survived by, his parents, Martin Zangaro, Sr. of Festus, Missouri and Jacqueline (nee Parton) Messmer of Dittmer, Missouri, two (2) children, Hollyn Faith and Kade Taylor,

the mother to his children, Amberley, five (5) brothers, Martin (Monica) Zangaro, Jr. of Saint Peters, Missouri, Brett Zangaro of Pacific, Missouri, Doug Messmer of High Ridge, Missouri, Johnny (fiancée Haley) Messmer of De Soto, Missouri and Jordan McArthur of Hillsboro, Missouri, and many other family and friends.

Andrew cherished his children above all else. To him, being a father to Hollyn and Kade was his greatest accomplishment. Brotherhood was a way of life for him and sports was his favorite expression of interest and ability. His high school years at NHS meant so much to him because of the bonds he formed and the extended family he gained. For Andy, family was the ultimate reward. We all fall short at times, but it is in these moments that we need to remember that asking for help isn't weakness. Andrew will be fondly remembered and dearly missed by all who knew and loved him.

“ When we were young, we were so competitive. If I didn't eat my breakfast fast enough, he would beat me to it. He was always a "growing boy" or at least so he claimed. But all of the competitiveness went away around age 16 and from then on it was just support and praise. Anytime I went somewhere with him he would introduce me to everyone in the room that he knew as if I was someone so cool and important that they just had to meet me. He, like my late mom, would brag on my achievements to the point that I would feel shy and embarrassed. He was just like that. He was cocky as we all know with sports but he was even cockier about how highly he saw us all. I will truly miss him and I hope I can one day earn the support he gave.

Andy, I love you. You have always been and will forever be more than a bestfriend to me....you're family, my brother. Pride fills my heart in having been fortunate enough to share a portion of life with you. You have made my life better because you were in it. I learned a lot from you and I'm thankful for your influence. I'm grateful for your memories and its truly an honor to call you a friend. Thank you for being an amazing God-father to Analiese and loving her unconditionally. You are a great man Andrew Scott Zangaro - BAILEY TRENT
