Bill was an amazing family man and Chemist. He was a crucial team member of Knolls and Sabacky, taking hard complicated molecules, simplifying the molecule components making, it much easier for certain drug production. With this, he was able to help the Knolls and Sabacky group achieve the Nobel Peace Prize in 2001. Work brought a great sense of success, golfing, listening to the beautiful Montavoni Orchestra and the great Patsy Kline is where he found that certain way to relax. He will be dearly missed by his family; and all of those lives he's touch.

Services were privately held at Bellerive Funeral Home with full Military Honors.
