“ I played against Craig in the early 1980's at several national foosball tournaments and remember his wicked push kick, intimidating presence (muscles) and competitive glare. Like most foosers, when you get 'em off the table they're the nicest people in the world. Sorry for your loss. RIP

“ Craig was such a nice guy. He was so friendly to me on tour even though I was not at his level, he never treated me as a less than player. He carried himself with a quiet confidence, and he was one of those players you noticed when he walked in the room. What a loss. To his friends and family I express my deepest sympathies with a heavy heart.
