She is preceded in death by, her parents, George and Laura Jose. Her son Martin William Maxwell, great grandson Joshua Kayser her brothers Eugene(Gloria) Jose, Marty (Ann) Jose, and sister Charolette(Everett) Hurst.

She is survived by her children, Judith Ann (Marvin) Prince, Jerry (Nancy) Maxwell and Sue Hankins.

Her 8 grandchildren, 20 great grandchildren, 8 great great grandchildren and many other family and friends.

"Edith was a loving and dedicated mother, grandmother, great grandmother, great great grandmother and friend. She had a deep love for gardening, with a special fondness for her African violets, which bloomed brightly under her care. Edith was a skilled seamstress, creating clothes for her children with love and precision. Her talents also extended to crocheting, and she famously crocheted a beautiful doily while awaiting the results of the Truman election. In addition to her many creative pursuits, Edith ran a small ceramic shop in her basement, where she shared her artistic gifts with others. Her warmth, creativity, and dedication to her family will always be remembered by those who knew her."

Edith will be fondly remembered and dearly missed by all who knew and loved her.
