“ Loss

Loss is the pain which hurts us the most. Its born from the loss of one very close. We pray, everyday, that our loved one returns. Then the disappointing reality, just morphs into hurt. The scars in our heart, at best, will just fade, but our longing to see him will never go away. Our comfort comes knowing, Gods holding you tight. As this knowledge gives strength through the dark lonely nights. A smile's the mask, we wear through the day, but at night the mask crumbles from the intense crushing pain. We just want you back, cause we love you so much. If we could just hear your voice or feel your warm touch. My regret is not knowing, on Earth, what I had. You will always be loved, from your son to his dad. Love you dad & I'll see you on the other side one day.

*Love your son,

“ My Uncle Gary. A man of honesty and sarcasm all wrapped in one. If anyone ever needed a helping hand or wise words, Gary would be one to offer them. He treated not just his son but his nieces and nephews as his own. He was never short on love for his family or his friends. He loved us all dearly. Love You Dear Uncle. You will be missed. RIP and God Bless.

“ Gary i'am very blessed to have such a great cousin like you. I cherrish our visits we had together. When i came to Fenton to see you i was almost ready to cry but you said to me, Debbie i don't want to see tears so i fought and held them back. Now you walk in Heaven with those we LOVE and have lost. You are and always will live on in our hearts and souls. Until we see eachother again walk with me and be my ANGEL. R.I.P. GARY . Your Loving cousin Debbie

“ I Love You Uncle Gary! It was so hard to see you in so much pain however you maintained your dignity and transitioned to a better place the way you chose to. I feel privileged to have been able to spend precious time with you during your last days. Yes, I cried often and you caught me often, only to bark at me to stop the crying (making me smile through the tears) I know you are free of all pain and are in a better place now. Thank you for always keeping it real in a way that only you could. This is not goodbye, I will see you again. Love your niece, Renee
