“ Years ago when I met Grace I was touched by her kind heart and contagious laughter. She always had a kind word to say to everyone and knew how to be of encouragement to those going through difficult times. I often marveled how happy she was all of the time, so anxious to help others. She was such a kind soul and a prayer warrior. She loved singing in church, one of her favorites being Amazing Grace. Most of all, she longed to be with The Lord. I treasure the memory of the talks we had of heaven. She said God would give us all new names and new bodies that will never experience sickness or disease. And now that she is in heaven, I know she is rejoicing, singing praises to God and having the time of her eternal life!
