“ We are members of St Anthony's parrish and had the pleasure and privilege of hearing Jamie's beautiful voice at 10:15 mass each Sunday. I didn't really know you or Jamie personally but saw you at different functions. Please know you all are in our thoughts and prayers .. I could not make it to the wake or funeral but will be there in spirit. You are not alone..you have many friends from here and across the region. I pray that God will get you through this horrible time. We will remember Jamie every time we walk out of church and look up at her awesome artwork. Hugs to all of you. The Runges...

“ Gregg, I am sure you are not reading these comments and I don't blame you one bit. But in the event that a few years from now when you are able to tolerate your new normal and are able to read these comments, I just want you to know that I don't know you and you don't know me but my heart is absolutely broken for you. I haven't stopped thinking about you since this tragedy happened. I am so, so sorry for you and your kids and I honestly wish I could take this all away for you! I know there isn't much I can say that can change this and take away your pain, but just know there are complete strangers that are thinking about you, praying for you and rooting for you on days when you feel like you can't handle the pain. Hang in there, Even though I didn't know her, Jamie seemed like a strong woman and would want you to.

“ Greetings and Sympathy from Bolivar Pennsylvania. As a Catholic writer and musician with a focus on the Virgin Mary. I want to say that Jamie reminds me of a modern St Maria Goretti , I pray the Catholic Church and the people of America realize that we now have a martyr and saint with us . I pray that the Catholic women in America realize that they are not safe as well as other women of Faith as our nation is in deep trouble,, and that we spread this woman's courageous, and powerful example of love and purity all over the world! Thank you Jamie for giving us an example of a true Catholic ,Marian Woman, wife and mother.
