many dearly loved great nieces & nephews,

along with numerous extended family and friends.

Jean spent her life as a seamstress. In her early years, she spent her time making clothing and hand made goods for her children and grandchildren.

“Handmade by Jean DeLorme” tags adorned her creations. If you knew her, she made you something. She later utilized her skills in the textile manufacturing industry, creating gear for military and police forces.

In her spare time, she enjoyed Friday night dinners with her family, going to the movies and even attended local community stage productions.

She was loved dearly and will be missed by all.

“ Aunt Jean was like my "summer mother" I couldn't wait for the weekends that we would go out to her house in o'fallon and spend the day knowing that when it was almost time for us to leave I could go begging her if I could spend the night/weekend and of course she would always say yes. I remember how she would spend hours in her sewing room making clothes for us. I loved her bunches and she will be dearly missed.
