“ We were buddies in the Navy. Went to desert storm together. He got me interested in reading. We walked through the volcano on the big island of Hawaii. It melted the bottom of our shoes. I tried finding him when I retired from the Navy in 2005, but was unsuccessful. I really wish I could have found him then. I miss my buddy.

“ Jeff was my brother in law but was more like a brother to me. I will always remember the times we spent together. One time we went fishing at buck creek, he went to the other side to fish. Sheila cast her line it went into his coke can. Jeff said figure the odds and we all laughed about that many times. Jeff I know the reason you went to the other side to fish, so I would have to bait Sheila' hook. Later that night we were chased by wild hogs, we all took off running. You were a great uncle to my children, you were always there for them. You will be truly missed but you will always be in our hearts. We love you rest in peace Jeff.

“ Jeff was my brother-in-law. How young Sheila and you were starting out in the Navy, Deborah you too. Our families used to vacation together every chance we could. I remember reading Steven King books together and then spend hours picking them apart, I mean hours! Our families would get together for weekend bbq's and just hang out together playing spades. That's how I remember you Jeff, full of life. You will always be in our hearts. Love. Gil and Lynn Hodges

“ Jeff and I didn't spend much time together as adults. The memories I have are childhood memories We would sneak off and go down to the creak to crawdad fish. We had bets on who would get monster. He was the biggest meanest and had this huge claw. No one ever caught him that I know of. But If My sister new we were going to the creak and the bacon we wasted she would have had a fit. We would have been real trouble. The trouble we got into was harmless. Jeff was easy to be around, He never made fun or tried to make you feel less than. Even as a kid , Jeff was genially a thoughtful and caring person.I've heard it said that children can be cruel and I suppose its true I think we have all been bullied. I never seen that in him. The time I stayed with my sister was not a good time in my life. I was going though some major changes Jeff never made me feel selfcounsece or unwelcome I'll always remember his compashion.He had the softest most warm wonderful hearts of most everyone I know. The other day a friend of mine told me the reason death the separation of the one we love is so painful is because we weren't suppose to die. We were created as eternal beings .So even if Jeff isn't here in his physical form .He will always be here in his eternal or spiritual form Love aunt

“ I am deeply saddened by the thought of knowing I never got to meet Jeff, who would have become my father-in-law in just a few short months. I feel like I knew him though with how often Robert told stories about his dad and the memories they shared. A piece of Jeff will always remain in my life through his son, Robert, and for that I am forever grateful. Continue watching over your son, and know that you are finally at peace. My thoughts and prayers are with the entire Houser family during this difficult time and the days ahead.

My oldest nephew and my sisters oldest child, I remember how we made up our own language when we were kids. I also remember how I became a Cardinal fan because you were so interested in them. Babysitting at the Housers was always a treat! We had pizza fights, ran off the neighborhood boys and always had it cleaned up just like Janie would expect. I am so sorry for the family's loss. I had just heard about his passing now....five years later. I first met DK1 Houser when I was an Ensign going to the Navy Supply Corps School in Athens, GA. He then transferred out to Pearl Harbor, HI and served as my Leading Disbursing Clerk onboard USS LEFTWICH through Desert Shield, Desert Storm and many follow-on deployments. He was a great advisor, peer and friend. God bless you Shipmate....Fair Winds and Following Seas! Ari Iliakis, CAPT, SC, USN (Ret)
