“ It's been a while man, how you been? I miss you like hell bruh and miss the stupid crap you use to say. I remember the day we were playing UNO and you made that stupid Nubian prince joke anytime I think of it I start rolling! My daughter is getting big she's 3 now can you believe it and now that I'm out the Marine Corps I'm now doing cloud computing at Purdue! Man it's great I feel like I could actually make money now! I got myself a job at the VA in Columbus Ohio too man its cool I'm a supply Tech! I miss you dude and wish I could see you and we could talk atheist one last time, I think about you a lot and every memorial day I put out a shot of Jack by my window just for you to have! I know you're in a better place but I'm not gonna lie it's hard. I miss you dude and as long as I'm around you're not forgotten

You're Sweet Nubian Prine J.P

“ As the proud mother of a fallen Marine, I know the pain that you suffer and the pride that you carry for your son. May Lance Corporal Pirkle rest in the arms of God and in the words of my son before he passed, 'May the halls of Valhalla ring with the announcement of his name as he sits with his brothers and regales the tales of battle.' “ I remember the very first time I got to hold Jeffry as a baby, he was the heaviest little thing I've ever been handed with the most beautiful eyes. Many Prayers to Jeff, Alyssa and the family. Thank you for your service Jeffry, rest easy.

“ Jeffry's first wrestling match showed his true heart when he was about 6. He went to the mat & immediately pinned his opponent. The little boy sat up and cried, Jeffry put his arm around him and cried with him until his parents came for him. He wanted to be a high school football coach & a History teacher. We have all lost a good man with a honest and loving heart.
