Peggy was the kindest woman and a wonderful mother who loved deeply and gave freely. She was endlessly supportive of her family and a devoted champion of her husband's artwork, always encouraging his creativity. Peggy loved to travel—especially her cherished trips to Italy—and was a true foodie who could recall a memorable meal even decades later. Known for her incredible luck, she delighted in entering contests and winning everything from TVs to cars and trips. Above all, Peggy was profoundly loved because she loved so well.

In lieu of flowers, do something for yourself and think of Peggy.
