It is impossible to separate the image of "Aunt Marvel" from extraordinary baking of cakes and pies, tireless embroidery of beautiful quilts, burning up the roadway driving "somebody somewhere" and giving merciful beatings to opponents at gin or pinochle (around Marvel and Stell, you learned quickly or lost frequently, at cards). A devoted wife and mother, until just recently, you never heard the word "Marvel" without "Marvel & Wib". She had a glowing, optimistic, engaging personality which drew others to her company, and was a faithful member of St. Martin's™ United Church of Christ in Dittmer, Missouri.
