Paul was a loving son, brother, husband, grandfather, great grandfather, and friend. His family was his whole world and he made sure he was always there for them. As a handy man anything he touched, he could fix. There was never a broken pipe, line, or fence. His tractor and chainsaws were always running. Gardening and the animals then filled the little free time he had remaining but we all know he wouldn't have wanted it any other way. His love for God and his family was unmatched and he will be cherished by those he touched. He will be fondly remembered and dearly missed by all who knew and loved him.
