“ My wife and I came to live in Harwood Hills in 1970. We soon found good friends in Renate and Walter Stern. They were very welcoming and we spent many happy hours together. They always invited us to their wonderful New Years Eve party. We always regretted that after we moved away we got too involved with other activities and people and neglected to maintain our close friendship. It was our loss as the Sterns family were some of the finest friends that we had the good luck to have in our lives.
