“*Jeremy, Sheryta, Alyssa and your families - I work for the Ursuline Sisters; yes, a lot of people who know me find it comical I, of all people, work for nuns. I am a bit obnoxious, so I get it. I sent out a prayer request and have added to the many, many people praying for Ryan and his family and friends. I can't speak for them but I think they'd say they're not getting to the head of the line because they are Sisters. I do however believe they would talk about the power of prayer. They know I'm not Catholic (sometimes people look at me like I must have tricked them to get the job) and I'm the first to admit I don't always keep up with my prayers. I'm not exactly sure how it works but I hope with all my heart God finds some way to help you all get to the place where you can smile at the memories without so much hurt. With all the people praying maybe we can get this pushed to the front of the line. We will always smile when thinking about how much fun Chloe had hanging out with her best buddies, Ryan, Alec and Danny. And we were lucky enough to make some friends through it too.
