Spencer loved his family and friends immensely. He was a compassionate man with a loving and caring heart. He always put his family first. Spencer enjoyed the outdoors hunting or fishing. He often found himself busy and on the go, usually fixing or tinkering with things. He had a wonderful personality which his family describes as down-right silly and sarcastic. Spencer was an active member of Mount Olive General Baptist Church. He was a dedicated husband, caring father, wonderful grandfather, man of God and a true friend and neighbor to everyone. He will be fondly remembered and dearly missed by all who knew and loved him.

Arrangements handled by Chapel Hill Mortuary, 6300 Highway 30, Cedar Hill, Missouri. A private memorial service will be held at a later date. Family and friends can review and share stories, photos and condolences online at www.stlfuneral.com and follow details of this event and others in the community at www.facebook.com/stlchapelhill.

“ Spencer.

Often times I'd say his name with an exclamation point after it, because I'd catch him in the middle of mischief at church. He was the universal grandfather to everyone there. He taught every toddler the art of drinking from the drinking fountain and would always enlist their help to ring the bell to dismiss Sunday school. He'd get so tickled watching them jerk at the sound while in his arms.

I remember hissing his name when he and his partner in crime, Danny, would make noise with those ridiculous candy wrappers in the back pews. He'd silently giggle and give me a wink in response.

And without fail, he'd always greet me with a hug and a gentle kiss to my cheek when I walked past him after singing a special. It didn't matter the song, forgotten lyrics, or flat notes, he ALWAYS had that hug and kiss waiting for me. It was our moment, and I will miss that more than anything.

Spencer had this amazing ability to offer his friendship to everyone. He made everyone feel important and welcomed, no matter one's walk of life. I loved sitting by him as he waited to greet churchgoers, sharing his stories of where he'd been, who he met, and the lives he had no idea he touched.

He touched so many. And he touches them still.

Our deepest condolences to the Glisson family.

*With love,

Spencer was a loving helpful considerate man. He and his friend put our new roof on when we moved back to Fenton from Colorado. I never heard a bad word or condensing remark from him. He was always loving and pleasant to be with. I know his family will miss him terribly, especially his grandson Spencer. Prayers for the whole family.

Spencer loved his Coonhounds! ... I will never forget walking in their front door and seeing a three feet tall trophy sitting there, that they had won at a big coon hunt. Biggest trophy I have ever seen! ... He was justifiably proud of his dogs!
