“ Uncle Larry you were one of the few men I have looked up to in my life and will never forget all of the things you have taught me. You were the strongest man I knew and always seemed to know the answer no matter what kind of random question I would call you with. I cant wait to drink a beer with you again. You will never be forgotten!

“ I remember Larry being the advice giver. When we went to buy our house, every conversation I told Bob what I thought we should do and hed just walk away and say "I better just call Uncle Larry" :-) I remember a conversation I had with Larry after Bob and I got engaged. He was teasing me about choosing to come into the family when we all had on our ugly sweaters. Then he said "I taught Bob all I could so you are lucky... because I am a good guy." Because he was the advise giver, I do see the way he acted in a lot of the family. He taught Bob to be strong but also gentle and kind and I appreciate that. The way Will takes care of the little girls is exactly how Larry was to his sisters. The whole family is kind, generous and helpful but also not afraid to joke with you. He also ended our conversation "Unless he screws up then I never really had anything to do with him." He was always joking and laughing like the family....He is very missed but taught you all very well.

“ Sue, Tobi and Sandy. You were blessed to have a great guy like Larry in your lives. He was a fun loving man who showed his love for you. We feel fortunate to have known Larry and spending family times with him. He fought hard to get thru his health problems and just grew tired. When I think about Larry and what he endured the past five months that Frank Sinatra song "I Did It My Way" pops in my mind. Rest In Peace sweet Larry and we will see you again some day. “ Larry, A girl couldnt have asked for a better brother or friend or teacher . You taught me so much in life and I will forever be grateful . Being your lil brother had it perks .but I learned from the best ,thats why you had to be the one to teach the boys ..theyd listen to you . we all looked up to you and admired you ,poor guy with all us girls for all those years but you handle us all very well no matter what we hit you with . You were definetly one of the most important men in my life of few . you will foreve be in my heart and that no one can take away .I hope you enjoy your footrubs as much as I enjoyed giving you them . Someday I will again ...if you ever need them .please come say "hi " once in awhile as I cant imagine my life without you in it . I'll continue to try to make you proud to be your sis . I love you more than youll ever realize ...till we meet againmissing and loving you ...alwaysyour lil sis Patti
